

Jennifer Barlament

Executive Director, Atlanta Symphony Orchestra

Jennifer Barlament joined the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra in 2016, where she continues to define and execute the strategic vision for the institution. In addition to her role with the ASO, she also serves as a core faculty member for the League of American Orchestra's Essentials of Orchestra Management seminar. A lifelong musician and 2013 recipient of the League's prestigious Helen M. Thompson Award, Barlament has nearly two decades of experience leading orchestras across the country. Barlament earned her bachelor's degree in music with a minor in physics at Emory University and her master's degree in clarinet performance from the Eastman School of Music. Jennifer resides in Atlanta with her husband Kenneth Potsic, a bassoon repair and restoration specialist, and their son David.